

DR. CHADWICK REACHES NEW YORK

Will Not Be Placed Under Arrest But Will Go as the Sheriff's Guest.

SHOCKED AT TURN OF AFFAIRS.

Declares that He is Innocent of All the Charges Made Against Him.

HEARS STORY OF MME. DEVERE.

"Oh, No, No, Don't Say That. I Do Not Believe Such a Thing Can be Possible."

New York, Dec. 31.—Dr. Chadwick of Cleveland, who is under indictment in Cleveland with his wife, Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, for uttering a forgery, reached here today on the steamer Pretoria on the Hamburg-American line. Dr. Chadwick and his daughter occupied one of the poorer state rooms in the second cabin.

Dr. Chadwick will not be placed under arrest, but will go to Cleveland as the guest of Sheriff Barry, who is an old friend.

"There will be no arrest or even detention," Mr. Barry said.

Dr. Chadwick, who had previously been informed of his indictment and probable arrest, consented to return to Cleveland without formality.

DR. CHADWICK INTERVIEWED.

Dr. Chadwick gave the Associated Press a long interview on his arrival. In reply to questions he said:

"I am inexpressibly shocked by the recent turn of events. I am innocent of all charges against me and can point with pride to a 35 years residence in Cleveland. I cannot believe that the dreadful things pointed by the papers are true. I am entirely without information as to the case except what I read in the papers and what you have been good enough to tell me. So I can say nothing of the awful charges against my wife. My life the past few weeks has been a living death and I hope no man will ever go through what I have undergone. To think that my professional career which has always been successful should be blighted. My daughter, Mary, your little darling. I love her with my life. When I recovered from my illness, in Paris, my financial resources made it necessary for me to travel in the second cabin. I insisted that she go first class, but the nurse girl refused and has kept at my side, cheering me in my dark hour of trouble and proving to be more and more what a splendid woman she is.

"Oh, this is a dreadful calamity. I had no idea that such a fate was mine. I know little of Mrs. Chadwick's financial affairs, and until I find out the details will say nothing. I am overwhelmed by the charges against her." Dr. Chadwick read the Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland that Mrs. Chadwick had been measured by the Bertillon system. As he finished the reading he groaned aloud, and as he turned to the correspondent tears rolled down his cheeks.

The doctor, ill and sore at heart, was completely overwhelmed by the revelation and the consequent developments.

THE LAST STRAW.

"That is the last straw," he said, "measuring her in that way. Oh, that I am brought to this. You tell me that my friend, Mr. Barry, is here to take me back. Well, I am ready to go and shall be happy to accompany him. But this is a different home-coming than I anticipated. I knew I should find troubles and breakers ahead, but I never for a moment anticipated arrest. Of course, I am not guilty. I am absolutely innocent. And you say poor old Beckwith is very ill? Poor man, I know him but little, but I am sure he is innocent."

THE DEVERE STORY.

The correspondent then told Dr. Chadwick of the statement that has been made that Mrs. Chadwick is believed to have been Devere. The physician felt back as if stunned.

"Mrs. Devere," he cried, "Oh, no, no, don't say that. That cannot be. I do not believe that such a thing can be possible. If she is I have never suspected it and I cannot for a moment believe it."

"Do you think Mrs. Chadwick can be guilty as accused?" was asked.

"I cannot think her guilty of anything. I do not know the charges but she cannot be guilty."

When asked about the son, Emil Hoover Chadwick, the doctor said:

"Emil is one of the grandest boys I ever knew. I have never had to correct him. I love him as if he were my own. It is like him to stand by his mother so closely. I have been blessed by my daughter and stepson."

HIS FINANCIAL RESOURCES.

When asked about his financial resources, he said:

"If what the papers say is true, I am a penniless pauper. You saw my beautiful home in Cleveland and you know how I have lived. Now see me coming back in the second cabin. I, who have always traveled by the best ships and occupied the best cabins. But if all that has been said is true I am homeless and without a dollar. Oh, it is hard for one at my time of life to come to this."

"You ask if I am guilty. I have said no."

"To make my situation clear, I have in contemplation the writing of a book. I want physicians, lawyers, clergymen, bankers, business men, everybody to know where I have been and what I have written. The skeleton of the book already written and hope to have time to write it. That will show the world everything."

"You say my wife is accused of being Mrs. Devere. Did I look into her history? Think of my position. I was a widower with an invalid sister, my mother-in-law with a fractured leg, my eight year old daughter motherless. I could not take an interest in my household and bring order out of chaos? No one on earth can know my feelings today and God help that blessed girl who has been helping me bear my burdens."

At this time a revenue cutter with Sheriff Barry aboard tied up to the steamer side of the Pretoria and the sheriff clambered aboard. His command, already known to Dr. Chadwick, was announced by a steward, and Mr. Barry was admitted to the cabin. The two men had a long conference, after which Mr. Barry an-announced that Dr. Chadwick would not be placed under arrest and that they would return to Cleveland this afternoon as friends.

PAPERS SERVED ON HIM.

E. W. Drucker, secretary to Lawyer George Ryall, served papers on Dr. Chadwick in a suit for Herbert D. Newton of Brookline, Mass., and then repeated the service to make doubly sure.

Mr. B. Fay of Cleveland came to see the Chadwicks, but was ordered out of the cabin by Barry. The party will not go to New York at all, but will remain in New Jersey and will leave from Jersey City this afternoon for Cleveland.

Sheriff Barry then expected that the doctor's daughter would not go to Cleveland, but would soon start for Florida, where she has relatives.

One reason why Sheriff Barry did not arrest Dr. Chadwick was that he did not have the extradition papers. A law requires that the papers should be kept in the custody of a New York official, and were in the possession of Detective Sgt. Bonnot, of the New York City police headquarters. He was to have joined Sheriff Barry at the battery when the latter started down the bay on the revenue cutter to meet the Pretoria, but did not appear, and although the sheriff made every effort to reach him by telephone, could not be found. So Sheriff Barry went ahead without the papers.

CHADWICK'S BAIL FIXED.

Cleveland, Dec. 31.—Judge Tilden, in the criminal court today, fixed the bail of Dr. Chadwick at $10,000. Atty. Dawley stated that a bond for that amount will probably be ready when Dr. Chadwick arrives here.

A FATAL FIRE.

Mrs. Joseph Reuss of Norfolk, Neb., Burned to Death.

Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 31.—In a fire near Elgin, Neb., today Mrs. Joseph Reuss was seriously burned. She died shortly afterwards. Mrs. Reuss's clothing caught fire and she died in a tank of water, quenching the flames, which enveloped her, but not, however, before she had been burned to death. She was 40 years of age and was the wife of a farmer. She was burned to death in a tank of water, quenching the flames, which enveloped her, but not, however, before she had been burned to death.

TODAY ADDRESSES SPIRITS OF DEPARTED OFFICERS.

Tokio, Dec. 31, p. m.—At the funeral here today of several officers and men who were killed while fighting under him in action on the east coast of Asia, the late Admiral Togo addressed their spirits in the following words:

"As I stand before you spirits, I can hardly express my feelings. Your personalities are fresh in my memory. Your corporeal existence has ceased, but your passing from this world has been in the quietest of ways. I am proud of the great service you have rendered to your country. I am proud of the great service you have rendered to your country. I am proud of the great service you have rendered to your country."

New Comet Discovered.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The naval observatory here was notified last night by cable from the observatory at Madrid of the discovery of a comet by R. M. R. de la Sagra, which was discovered on Dec. 29. The comet was immediately looked up and observed by Messrs. Hammond and Wright of the naval observatory staff.

Baku Strike Continues.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Dec. 31.—The strike at Baku continues. The street railroads have suspended service, the electric light wires have been cut and the newspapers are not being published.

AN IMPUDENT FRAUD.

Gen. W. W. Blackmar, the new commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., was talking to a group of soldiers in Boston when a fraud came up and held out for inspection a rusty old sword.

"Look at it, gentlemen," he said. "Examine it closely. It is the sword what Lee surrendered to Grant. You can have it for $5."

"Go along with you," said one of the soldiers, sternly. "Go along with you. You can't fool us."

The fraud hurried away and Gen. Blackmar said:

"That was an impudent fraud, wasn't it? It reminds me of the frauds that were practiced in the old relic shows that used to be a feature of country fairs."

"At a country fair in my youth there was a show devoted almost entirely to Biblical relics. I wish you could have seen the faded cloth, the dusty robe and the brass jewels that did duty severally for a piece of Solomon's robe, a fragment of the Queen of Sheba's, Abraham's hairpin, David's sling, and so on. In place of honor hung a sword, and the showman said:

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. H. Jones, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

MARSHAL HEYWOOD HUNTS WITNESSES

Armed With Thirty Subpoenas He Sallies Forth and Secures A. L. Thomas et al.

WORTHINGTON'S INTERVIEW.

Chief Counsel for the Smoot Defense Tells the "News" of "Garbled" Evidence Introduced.

The witnesses for the defense in the Smoot investigation will number at least 30. United States Marshal Heywood arrived unexpectedly in Salt Lake this morning and immediately set about the task of serving them. He will spend today in Salt Lake and will then leave for outside points, where witnesses who are wanted may reside. While the list of witnesses has not yet been made public, it is said to be composed mostly of non-members and ex-members of the "Mormon" faith. At noon today Postmaster A. L. Thomas said that he had been served. A friend of Judge Miner's stated that the judge had received a subpoena. By tonight it is expected that service will have been had on all residents of Salt Lake who are wanted.

LAWYERS CONFERENCE.

Chief Counsel Worthington and Associate Counsel Van Cott for the defense in the Smoot case were in conference this morning. Afterwards Mr. Worthington was seen by a "News" representative at his apartments in the Knutsford hotel.

MR. WORTHINGTON TALKS.

Mr. Worthington is a pleasant man to meet and to talk to although he is decidedly one of the class of lawyers who are strongly averse to saying anything relative to a case in hand, to the newspapers.

"I don't know much of anything important to give out as yet, although I may hear something from Washington later. The newspaper men are getting coming to me for news long ago. They give it up as a bad job."

"Yes, I know the Chadwick and Patterson lawyers are trying to get cases in the papers. Seems to me that but for the fact that I am getting a good deal of notoriety just now, but as for their attorneys, well they are even more than ridiculous."

LIKES SALT LAKE.

"I like this city of yours. I used to think Washington was the only city in America that was planned to be a great city from the beginning. Salt Lake, in its wide streets and pleasant vistas reminds me more of Washington than any other city I ever saw, and was agreeably surprised to learn that it too was planned to have a great future when it was first founded."

SENATOR SMOOT'S CHANCES.

"How about the case of Senator Smoot—do you regard his chances for a fair trial and a just decision as favorable?" was suggested.

"Well, yes, I am personally acquainted with most of the members of the senate, and I believe that for the most part the senators will judge the case on its merits and according to law. They are not men who will be swayed by party prejudice, or who will yield to an adverse public opinion. The law and the facts do not justify it."

HEARSAY EVIDENCE.

"You once objected, did you not, Mr. Worthington, to the introduction of hearsay evidence that would not pass in a court of law?"

"Yes, I did. But the explanation of the committee that the case was not a trial, but an investigation covered that point. Much of that hearsay evidence was admitted not for its own sake but in the hope that it would lead to evidence. I am assured that it will not stand, or receive any consideration whatever."

"For instance, in the case of the alleged marriage of Apostle Cannon to Lillian Hamilton, the strongest witness was Mrs. Ellis, who testified that Apostle Cannon, then her husband, told her he was going to marry Lillian Hamilton. The evidence would not be admitted in any court of law as proof against a third party."

"How about the testimony of the Democratic state chairman up in Idaho?—Well there was a funny feature to it. He said that although about five-sixths of the people of Idaho were non-Mormons, still their leaders led them to do whatever the small body of 'Mormons' wanted them to. I don't know whether that condition actually exists, but I should consider it highly unbecomingly of the people of Idaho. But I am not up much on the political side of the question. Mr. Van Cott is handling that phase of it principally."

"When do you expect to be through?" was next suggested.

WANTS TO FINISH.

In answer Mr. Worthington said: "The senate wants to finish the case this session. After all our witnesses are examined, the making of arguments will be a mere formality. Then there will be a vote on the committee's report and action on it by the senate. We will have at least 30 witnesses to examine. The problem with us has been to avoid getting too many for the limited time at our disposal. We expect to rush the case to the utmost of our ability, in conformity with the wishes of the senate committee."

"There is one other item. The protestants put in a number of extracts from the 'Key to Theology' by Parley P. Pratt, and on examination we found that the extracts were garbled. In closing the interview, Mr. Worthington said that he had but little chance to see Salt Lake so far, but hoped to look it over more thoroughly before leaving."

AN UNIMPORTANT DETAIL.

George Meredith, the advocate of 10-year marriages, lives in a chalet in one of the most beautiful parts of England, and here, in profound quietude and seclusion, he writes his brilliant novels with slow care.

Mr. Meredith, like many other men of talent, is absent-minded. In London, one day, he spoke of a stream near his house, describing with minuteness the beauty of its banks, bridges and overhanging foliage.

"Which way?" someone asked, "does so-and-so, or toward so-and-so?"

"Really, I don't know; I never noticed," said the novelist, calmly.

"Best of the Good Ones." May the New Year Be a Prosperous One FOR YOU.

And as the old year dies, we wish to thank our host of friends for the support which they have given THREE CROWN PRODUCTS. Baking Powder, Extracts, Spices, Coffee and Teas, during 1904.

We have endeavored to show our appreciation every day of the year by making our products the very best that money and skill combined with a long experience could produce—"Best of the good ones"—and that we have been successful is attested by the fact that you have given us your loyal support, and helped us to build up an industry of which we feel justly proud.

HEWLETT BROS. CO.

SCHUMACHER IN CHICAGO.

Revival of the Rumor That He Will Succeed Benj. Campbell.

The story printed in the "News" a week ago to the effect that T. M. Schumacher, traffic manager of the Oregon Short Line, would be appointed to succeed Benj. Campbell, assistant traffic director of the Harriman lines in Chicago, has received a new impetus owing to the fact that Mr. Schumacher has been summoned to Chicago and arrives there this morning in response to a wire from Mr. Stubbs. When asked regarding the rumor last week Mr. Schumacher said: "I know nothing about it. If there were anything in it I would have heard something from Chicago."

Accompanying this rumor comes the old one that both at stated intervals to the effect that the office of traffic manager of the Oregon Short Line is to be abolished and that J. A. Reeves is to be appointed general freight agent with D. K. Gray as his assistant.

E. W. GILLETTE HERE.

General Freight and Passenger Agent of Salt Lake Route.

E. W. Gillette, general freight and passenger agent of the Salt Lake Route, arrived in this city this morning from Los Angeles and left this afternoon on a train bound for Los Angeles. He reports all hands busy at Los Angeles working on the tariffs so as to be in readiness for the opening of the road. Mr. Gillette will spend a few days in Utah going over the local situation.

NOTES.

D. J. Lindsay, general agent for the Chicago & Northwestern at Janesville, Wis., is in the city today on his way home from a visit to Idaho. He denies the persistent rumor that he has come west to get married.

S. Bock, emigration agent for the Oregon Short Line at Dayton, O., is numbered among the visiting railroad men today.

It is believed that William K. McAlister, general agent of the Southern Pacific at Denver, will be appointed to succeed E. L. Griffin, general agent of the Union Pacific who resigns tonight, thereby consolidating the two offices upon lines in vogue in Salt Lake and elsewhere.

THE ELLIS FUNERAL.

It Was Held This Afternoon—Deceased Answered Query as to Who He Was.

Funeral services over the remains of Charles Ellis, the well known local writer whose charred remains were discovered in his home on Tuesday night last, were held this afternoon from the undertaking parlors of Joseph William Taylor on West Temple street. A large number of friends gathered to do honor to his memory and the sermon was delivered by Bishop Orson F. Whitney, who eulogized him for his good deeds and his strength of character. Remarks were also made by Elder George A. Smith and Col. M. M. Kaighn, while the singing was furnished by the Seventeenth ward choir. Interment was in the City cemetery.

At the close of his pamphlet on "Christian and Mormon Doctrines," Charles Ellis (true religiousist) wrote the following concerning himself:

"WHO IS CHARLES ELLIS?"

For those who, having read the foregoing pages, may ask the above question, I would take the liberty to say that 23 years ago I was graduated with honors from a well known theological school, and was at the time ordained to the "Christian ministry." But his study of theology had convinced him that so-called "Christianity" was not the religion of Jesus Christ, and he very soon abandoned that profession, turning his attention to journalism and literature. Coming to Utah a dozen years ago (1880), he became at once interested in conditions here, in which he found a large number of so-called "freethinkers," everywhere else the opponents of the Christian churches, yet here united with the anti-Mormon churches in an unscrupulous effort to destroy the "Mormon" Church by disfranchising the whole "Mormon" population. A careful study of the "Mormon" people, their religion, social condition and practical work, convinced him that they were in every way superior, generally speaking, to their opponents and that the fight against them was unjust, malicious and inhuman. He, therefore, espoused the cause of the "Mormons," unasked, and by tongue and pen broke up the old anti-Mormon political party of Utah, thereby blinding the trail for statehood and the independence of "this people." His experience as a student of theology has prevented him from joining the "Mormon" Church, but he has for years seen in it an organization that more than any other will, in the nature of things, or in the providence of God, as others might say, inevitably do a great work in disabusing the minds of nominal Christians of the gross errors that have made them so bigoted and prejudiced against the "Christian" world for many centuries.

PIONEER WOMAN ENTERS INTO REST

Maria L. Nebeker of this City Passed Away Early This Morning.

CAME TO UTAH IN YEAR 1847.

Spent Three Years of Her Life on a Mission to the Sandwich Islands.

Maria L. Nebeker, a pioneer of 1847, and wife of the late George Nebeker, passed away at the family residence, 544 north Fourth West, at 8 o'clock this morning after a long illness.

For three years past the aged lady has been compelled, owing to her ailment, to sit night and day in a chair and never lie down, but through it all she maintained a cheerful and lovable disposition until up to the last.

Deceased came to Utah in 1847 with her mother, Mrs. Eliza Dilworth, and with the exception of three years spent in the Sandwich Islands with her husband who was on a mission, she had resided in Salt Lake 57 years.

Deceased was born Jan. 15, 1833, at West Chester, Chester county, Pennsylvania and was the youngest of eight sisters who have one and all gone before.

She leaves four children to mourn her departure, William G. Nebeker, J. S. Stewart, Marcelus and Walter. Marcelus is at present in Berlin, Nev., and it is doubtful whether word can be received by him in time to allow him to attend his mother's funeral which occurs Monday at 1 p. m. from the Twenty-second ward meetinghouse.

NEARING THE END.

Mrs. Maria S. Burton, Pioneer Utah Woman, Close to the Grave.

Maria S. Burton, wife of Gen. Robert T. Burton, and one of the pioneers of Utah, is seriously ill at her home on the corner of First South and Second West streets, suffering from an attack of la-grippe. Mrs. Burton is over 78 years of age, but heretofore has enjoyed exceptionally robust health. Yesterday afternoon the physicians in attendance announced that they could not hold out hopes of recovery. However, the situation this morning is somewhat improved. Mrs. Burton is resting quietly, and her immediate friends are again becoming hopeful that she will recover.

RUNAWAY STREET CAR.

Dashed Down First Street Hill Without Leaving the Rails.

While coming down the First street hill at 1:30 this afternoon, the Sixth street car got beyond control of the motorman and went speeding down the hill at a terrific rate, so fast, in fact, as to terrorize all the passengers. For a time the ladies on the car were almost hysterical, and some threatened to jump, but the conductor prevailed upon them to remain seated, and thus all danger of accident was avoided. Strange to say the car continued on its way and rounded the curve without leaving the track, although in the least any of the passengers.

LATE LOCALS.

The Christmas music given last Sunday in the First Presbyterian church will be repeated tomorrow morning.

Bandmaster John Held, has so improved that he is able to come down stairs once a day, and is considered convalescent.

The new L. D. S. hospital which opens on Wednesday of the coming week, de-signed to secure the services of five more thoroughly trained nurses.

Architects Erskine & Lilgenberg are completing plans for a $4,000 hotel and stone, modern residence for Bishop P. G. Johnson at Blackfoot, Idaho.

Several carloads of marble have arrived from Vermont for the Federal building, and Bupt. Brier is now engaged in setting the slabs in position.

A reception will be given at the First M. E. church on Monday night by Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin Young, assisted by the official band and their wives.

Workmen are busy taking down the old telephone wires from the poles on East Temple street, as they are no longer needed with the underground cables in working order.

The Postal Telegraph company has material on the way for an additional wire from Butte to Portland. The Salt Lake management opened today, a branch office in the Knutsford hotel.

Mrs. Glen Miller and children are spending the holidays in Geneva, Switzerland. Mrs. Miller will go to Rome next week, to remain for a time, the boys returning to their school duties.

A Goldfield, Nev., paper reports that a party of Salt Lake capitalists has purchased two lots, 50x100 feet at the center of the town for a hotel with 100 rooms. The price for the site was $3,750.

The Utah Liquor company has sold its wholesale business to Baer Bros. of Leadville, Colo., who will be here early in the year to assume control. The Utah people continue the retail business as usual.

The Salt Lake Veteran Fireman's association is the recipient of a photographic group of the California volunteer association, taken in southern California. The picture will be hung in the hall of the association on Canyon road.

Three cases of smallpox were reported to the board of health today. They are: J. P. Morgan, aged 35, residing at 339 West Third North; W. J. Glad, aged 26, residing at 327 C street; Eva Holmberg, aged 7, residing at 1035 West First South street.

A child's purse containing a small amount of change was picked up on First street this morning by Dr. A. C. Cherry, whose office is on the second floor of the Deseret News building. The purse may be recovered by calling and identifying it.

Brubaker & Campbell, hardware dealers, will increase their capital from $25,000 to $50,000, and admit to the firm.

As yet no trace has been secured of Will P. Wanless, the attorney who is wanted here upon the charges of obtaining money by false pretenses, and failing to account for trust money in his possession, and it is now believed by the officials that he has quit the state for good. It was rumored today that he had gone to Canada; that he boarded the Lagoon train in this city, and went to Woods Cross, where he boarded the Short Line train for the north.

Landlord Sam Porter of the Kenyon and wife returned this morning from a six weeks' visit to Chicago and the world's fair. Mr. Porter says the fair was such a huge enterprise that to do it justice, one had to take a long time in going over it. He also says that the "rumpus" down east over the "Mormon question" is being sized up as an exaggeration. He went into a large immigration agency in Chicago and found that 75 per cent of people who called there for information prior to moving west, asked for all the literature possible, and that it was possible to get about Utah.
